Secret 1.

Great teachers create the framework through which we see.

Secret 2.

Great teachers know that students can also be great teachers.

Secret 3.

Great teachers will never say that they are great.

A photograph of a classroom. A male teacher in a yellow shirt is standing at the front, pointing towards the students. Several students in the foreground have their hands raised, indicating they want to speak or ask a question. The scene is brightly lit, and the focus is on the interaction between the teacher and the students.

INSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Who is doing the work?
What are they doing?
Can they tell you why?

“Great leadership is getting somebody to do something you want them to do because they want to do it.”

-Dwight Eisenhower

FIVE QUICK WAYS TO IDENTIFY AN EFFECTIVE TEACHER:

- Goals of the class are clear.
- Over 90% of students are actively engaged at any time.
- Students have a variety of ways to get unstuck before asking the teacher.
- Students know why they are doing what they're doing.
- Students are THINKING.
